

Bitcoin price app

Larry Colucci

January 21, 2018

Bitcoin Price App

This app takes in a user supplied variables for the current Bitcoin Price, and predictions on whether the future price will go up or down, and by how much.

To use the app, the user has simply to provide the three (3) inputs requested on the page. There is no submit button.

Please note, this app should not be considered investment advice. Past performance is no indication of future success, even with a working predictive model.